them. We contacted the very best in golf like, Greg Norman, and others asking what advice they had for young players. Greg Norman responded, "My goal was always to be the best I could be. If you think about it...being the best you can be is infinite. There's always room to grow. There's always something new to learn. And there's always something new to do." Jordan Spieth said, "There's nobody that had more influence on my golf game than Tiger. When I was 11 years old, I watched Tiger hole out that amazing birdie chip in on the 16th hole at Augusta in 2005. That chip made me want to literally walk outside and for hours on end practice chipping." You don't need to spend a lot of time searching for how the best in golf got to where they are. It's all here in this book. You will be inspired. You will learn things other young golfers will never know. Ray Floyd replied, "My advice to any young golfer who wants to excel at the sport is to dedicate yourself to being good in all aspects of the game.... The real scoring part takes place from 60 yards in, so I would encourage youngsters to spend as much time learning how to chip and putt as they do with their driving." Peter Jacobsen said, ""My father taught me the game and he always stressed the fun of playing and being with my friends and family on the course.... Golf taught me self-reliance, taking responsibility and honesty." Tiger Woods said, Tiger said, "People don't understand that when I grew up, I was never the most talented. I was never the biggest. I was never the fastest. I certainly was never the strongest. The only thing I had was my work ethic.... That's why I've busted my butt on the range for hours on end and made changes to get to this point where I'm able to compete at the highest level in major championships. That's where you want to be." You will learn how the pros maintained a good confidence level. Jack Nicklaus said, "Confidence is the most important single factor in this game, and no matter how great your natural talent, there is only

'Proving' the cause of the plaintiff's injury in personal injury litigation often entails significant challenges, particularly when science cannot identify the cause of a biological phenomenon or when the nature of this cause is debatable. This problem is frequently encountered in medical malpractice cases, where the limitations of scientific knowledge are still extensive. Yet judges must decide cases, however uncertain the evidence with regard to proof of causation. Reluctant to leave patients without compensation, courts have in some cases challenged their traditional approach to causation through recourse to such techniques as reliance on factual presumptions and inferences, the concept of loss of chance, and reversal of the burden of proof. This book analyses and criticises the use of these various techniques by the courts of England, Australia, Canada, France, and the civilian Canadian province of Quebec in confronting evidentiary causal difficulties caused by the uncertainties of medical science.
