On the big race that day, the King George VI steeple, Mordin placed straight forecast (quinella) combinations on Docklands Express to beat the three horses he rated the main dangers. He had six 5 pound forecasts in addition to his 30 pounds eachway on Docklands Express. Alas, Docklands Express finished 2nd at 25/1, run down by one of the

Come to think of it, the Post publishes, along with the race time, a statement of how fast or slow it was compared to the standard time. So for the cost of a little mental arithmetic, you can easily calculate the Post's standard times (although since the difference from standard is probably what you want, there might be little point in taking your socks off).
